Summary

Hello! I'm a first year college student studying at IITG BSc Hons(data science and artificial intelligence), BKBIET BTech(CSE) and I have a strong interest in coding. Currently, I'm exploring various coding fields to gain experience and knowledge.
I enjoy learning different coding languages and problem-solving techniques. Right now, I'm trying my hand at data science, artificial intelligence, and website development.

I'm a proactive learner and always looking for opportunities to apply my coding skills in real-world projects.

I'm open to internships or part-time opportunities that align with my coding interests and help me grow professionally.
If you're interested in connecting or working together on coding projects, please reach out. Let's explore the exciting world of coding together!
